

Who We Are

EFN is a strategic network of the European Evangelical Alliance that connects active and emerging ministries and other stakeholders across Europe.

EFN serves those partners by providing the encouragement, advice, resources and prayer that they need for effective action and cooperation.

EFN works with national Alliances to encourage and empower local churches and to build national and regional networks capable of addressing the issues of human trafficking and sexual exploitation, and the needs of people involved.

What We Do

Our partners collaborate in Task Groups to focus on six strategic interventions:

- NETWORK: connecting people with each other, and to crucial information, resources, ideas, prayer and encouragement
- INFLUENCE: creating a united voice for high-impact advocacy and positive change in the region
- PIONEER: encouraging emerging networks through visits, regular communication, and shared resources
- MINISTRY: breaking the larger, shared vision for combating trafficking in Europe into manageable chunks and organizing task groups to create strategies that address them
- PRAYER: mobilizing prayer across the region – for each other, for victims, and around advocacy targets
- INFORM: providing access to information, resources, ideas, and encouragement so that the church can pray and act strategically

Our Mission...

The European Freedom Network exists to help the body of Christ in Europe work together effectively to prevent and combat human trafficking and sexual exploitation, and to seek the restoration of its victims.

Our partners include organisations like Stop the Traffick, the International Christian Alliance on Prostitution, the European Baptist Federation, and CARE, in addition to national Evangelical Alliances and interested individuals.
